  Remembrance Bowl This summer, in commemoration of the 75th anniversary of D-Day, June 6th 1944, The Patton Alliance, Patton Legacy Sports and the town of Carentan are organizing a game of flag football featuring the "Screaming Eagles" of the 101st Airborne commemorating the Champagne Bowl "Game That Never Happened" in 1944. Helen Patton, granddaughter of General George S. Patton will be in attendance at the game which will take place at the stadium in Saint-Hilaire-Petitville. During the late fall of 1944, with Paris secure and ultimate victory inevitable, a football game reminiscent of America's Superbowl was planned for Christmas Day. The 101st Airborne Division paratroopers, who had already seen hard fighting in Normandy and the Netherlands, were stationed in Champagne, near Reims, the place of General Eisenhower's Allied headquarters. According to historian Stephen Ambrose, divisions held tryouts for the Champagne Bowl and practiced three hours a day. However, the game never took place, as the soldiers were recalled to duty in response to the German offensive in the Ardennes, and the 10,000 men of the 101st marched north in mid-December to the Battle of the Bulge.

13th June

Pittsburgh, PA

1830 - 2000hrs

In the United States, we tend to think of "D-Day" as an inherently American undertaking. This overlooks the important contributions by the British Commonwealth. Three of the five beaches (Juno, Sword, and Gold) were assigned to British or Canadian divisions, and the Royal Navy provided the vast bulk of warships. Moreover, the Allies spent years encamped in Great Britain preparing for the cross-Channel invasion. This lecture by Dr. John C. Mitcham of Duquesne University and Britsburgh’s History Society will examine Britain’s role in the Normandy Campaign, from the planning and operations to its impact on British Society. Dr. Mitcham is an Associate Professor and Director of Graduate Studies in the Department of History at Duquesne. The 1 hour lecture will be followed by a 30 minute Q&A session. Coffee service included. This presentation is complimentary with paid museum admission.
